

New orthopedic specialist takes over Dr. Perry's practice Urologist joins visiting specialists at Davenport Clinic

Long-time visiting orthopedic specialist James Perry, MD, will be taking a medical hiatus from both his Spokane practice and his bi-weekly patient list at the Davenport Clinic. In his absence, Timothy Powers, MD, a colleague of Dr. Perry at Northwest Orthopaedic Specialists, will continue services here.

"We wish Dr. Perry well after his surgery and are praying for a full and speedy recovery," says Tom Martin, Lincoln Hospital Administrator. "He's been a great friend not only to our medical staff, but has served his patients here with kindness and great competence."

As for Dr. Powers, his credentials say it all. Although he will continue to treat all kinds of orthopedic injuries, spinal problems are his forte. A graduate of the University of Virginia School of Medicine, he completed his Orthopaedic Residency in Grand Rapids, Michigan, followed by a Spine Surgery Fellowship at Ortho Carolina in Charlotte, NC.

"He is highly recommended and brings an interesting and needed new service to Lincoln County," says Martin. "We're happy to have him as part of our team."

No stranger to rural areas, Dr. Powers enjoys hunting, fishing and attempting to keep up with his wife Ann, an RN and Ironman Triathlete. For an appointment with Dr. Powers, call toll free 1-888-660 BONE (2663).

Those wishing to contact Dr. Perry with a get well card are welcome to send them to: Dr. Jim Perry, c/o Northwest Orthopaedic Specialists, 601 W. 5th #400, Spokane, WA 99204.

In addition to a new orthopedic specialist, Lincoln Hospital is also pleased to welcome Steven Silverstein, MD to Davenport.

Dr. Silverstein, a visiting urology specialist, will also see patients at the Davenport Clinic on a monthly basis.

"Again, we just cannot say enough about Dr. Silverstein's credentials. His practice is on the cutting-edge of urological science as he keeps up on all the latest procedures and treatments," says Martin, noting he will offer a number of surgical procedures here at Lincoln Hospital.

Dr. Silverstein, a graduate of Baylor College of Medicine, has been in urology for 25 years and is experienced in various areas of urology, including vasectomies, prostate diseases including cancer, urinary bladder incontinence, and erectile dysfunction.

For an appointment with Dr. Silverstein, call Inland Northwest Urology at (509)747-3005.

Dr. Powers

Dr. Perry

Dr. Silverstein